Indicator Question

12-02-08 Do these policies extend to external suppliers and the supply chain - (equipment suppliers and construction contracts)?

Answer

Very likely: Although the sustainability report does not explicitly mention construction contracts, the existence of graduate programs in "Protection of Ecosystems" and the existence of specialized research (such as the collective book) in "Environmental Governance from an Economic Perspective" that addresses the "polluter pays" principle, reflects an institutional framework that seeks to apply environmental and legal standards to all economic activities, including the university's relationship with equipment suppliers and construction.
