Yes. Abbas Laghrur University in Khenchela offers a variety of short courses and seminars in several fields for people who are not enrolled at the university, including:

1-Executive education programmes

We offer a variety of short courses and seminars in areas such as leadership, management, marketing and technology. These programmes are aimed at working professionals who wish to develop their skills and expertise.

These programmes range in duration from one week to two months and are held on weekends or during regular working hours to accommodate participants' schedules.

These programmes are delivered by our university faculty members as well as experts from industry and the community.

2-Professional programmes

The university offers a range of professional training programmes in areas such as information technology, engineering and healthcare.

These programmes are aimed at professionals seeking to update their skills or obtain professional certifications.

These programmes range in duration from one week to six months, depending on the scope of the content and the targeted certifications.

These programmes have been designed in collaboration with relevant professional bodies to ensure that they meet the needs of industry.

For more details about these programmes and course schedules, please visit the university's website or contact the Continuing Education Centre.

Yes

Abbas Laghrur University in Khenchela seeks to engage and communicate with the surrounding community, rather than confining itself to the university campus.

This is achieved by organising numerous educational and teaching activities outside the campus and at the local level. This is done through:

-The coordination committee between the university and secondary schools regularly organises visits for students to introduce them to the academic programmes and opportunities available at the university. These visits allow students to learn about higher education at an early stage and spark their interest in it.

Some of these community education programmes are run by student volunteers from the university itself, which enhances their participation in serving the local community.

04-03-05

Yes

Access to all activities carried out by Abbas Laghrur University in Khenchela is available to everyone, both inside and outside the university, regardless of race, religion, disability, immigration status or gender.
