Symposium

HEALTH AND ENVIRONMENT

15 December, 2026
In-person seminar

TOPIC 1

Environmental Pollution,
Emerging Contaminants and Human Health

TOPIC 2

Water Quality and Innovations for Sustainable Management

TOPIC 3

Climate Change,
Biodiversity, and Ecosystem
Health

The well-being of our planet and the health of its people are tightly connected. This symposium provides a leading venue for narrowing the divide between ecological integrity and public health, tackling the pressing challenges that arise where climate change, pollution, and disease prevention intersect. Attend with leading experts, researchers, and policymakers as we examine integrated approaches intended to strengthen ecosystem resilience and support safe places to live. Together, we will develop the strategies required to reduce environmental risks and secure a thriving future for everyone within a continually shifting global context.
